“Audrey is an influential, eloquent expert in Youth motivation, empowerment and developing the Future of Work.”

Audrey Hametner is the founder of The Bedrock Program, a global social impact practice focused on developing a generation of empowered youth with deep career motivation based on solid core values. She is a published author, lecturer, and board leader in-demand motivational thinker who inspires future leaders to discover their core values and pursue success. Her thoughts on values-centred motivation and empowerment have been published in Forbes, Entrepreneur Middle East, Thrive Global, The Gagger, and Medium.

She has delivered inspiring and motivating talks for clients including the Abu Dhabi Department of Education & Knowledge, Arabian Business, Accor Hotels, and Cigna. Audrey has spoken at The World Economic Forum, in Davos at a side panel on the future of work, as well as international conferences in Education such as GESS Dubai, and the Ireland International Conference on Education (IICE) and has been featured on the radio within the GCC region.

With over 25 years of experience in business, Audrey is a Black Belt Six Sigma, is a qualified Prince 2 project manager and has led Finance and Operations teams on over 4 continents, motivating teams and building business and people for success.

CORE VALUES DRIVE DEEP MOTIVATION

After years in business globally, Audrey realized that disengaged employees cost companies billions annually and the cost on quality of life and is even more detrimental to the innovation, social, and emotional wellbeing of employees.

A realization that pushed her to pursue a life to develop a future generation that can do things differently!
